November 2005

Message from the Chief Executive Officer of Business Against Crime South Africa
16 Days of Activism for No Violence against Women and Children

The 16 Days of Activism is part of the nation's drive to stop abuse of women and children. Government has called on everyone to act against abuse and restore people's dignity by ending violence against women and children.

I would like to call on your support in this campaign as we help make our communities safer and more secure. We need to build a society that truly cares for women and children.

The 16 Days, from 25 November – 10 December 2005, should not only unite us in mutual care and respect over the period, but throughout the year.

Your company or organisation can support this campaign by participating in a number of ways. I ask that you obtain information by contacting:
